

ASSASSIN SAILS FROM HERE TO SLAY A KING

Italian Consul and Secret
Agents Alarmed Over
News from Rome.

There is much mysterious coming and going and a general air of mystery and bustle about the Italian Consulate, in Lafayette street, over the report from Rome that an anarchist is on the way from Rome, Pa., with the intention of assassinating King Victor Emmanuel. The news reached Consul-General A. R. Mazzanti through official sources in Italy, and he was instructed to leave no stone unturned to capture the man and break up the society to which he belongs.

That he should have left from an obscure Italian settlement in Pennsylvania is considered only a part of the precautions taken for secrecy, and it is believed that the man came out originally from New York, where several anarchist societies have their headquarters. All these societies are watched, and it is known that a member of one of the most dangerous groups disappeared from this city some months ago and was traced to Philadelphia, where all track of him was lost.

Watch is being set in every port in Italy now to arrest this man, as he is known to be desperate. When he disappeared he was well supplied with money, and there is no question in the minds of the Italian secret-service agents that he is well able to carry out all the preliminary steps toward executing his design against the life of the king.

The Consul-General received a reporter for The Evening World, but would not talk about the matter for publication.

"I must not mention this particular matter just now," the Consul-General said for the general information of the public that there are many people in this country from Italy that need to be watched. They are so careful and have many different reasons for spreading false reports about each other. If a man wants to do a hostile act, he cannot do it more easily than to circulate anachronistic slanders against him, especially if he is about to return to Italy. I will not say that this may even likely be one of such instances. Because my instructions will not permit me to discuss this matter in any way, but where so many elements combine to arouse groundless suspicions it is likely that any suspicious are groundless, though all of apparent importance demand investigation.

This was taken to mean that the Consul-General does not personally believe the report from Italy as to the Anarchist, but that he is not taking any chances.

To bear out this interpretation, it is stated by a prominent Italian who knows in a general way what is going on that ten of the best Secret Service men in the employ of the Italian Government were hurried here last Sunday night from Philadelphia and Washington with orders to report to the Consul-General.

It is thought that the purpose of the Anarchist is to attack the king when he starts on his visit to Greece, which is scheduled for April 12.

PRINCETON MAN TO CLEAN STREETS

William H. Edwards, Former Football Expert, Made First
Deputy Commissioner.

Mayor McClellan to-day announced the appointment of William H. Edwards, the former Princeton football captain, as First Deputy Street Cleaning Commissioner, and said the new deputy would be assigned to street cleaning in Manhattan. The place pays $2,000 a year.

Asked if the appointment was his own, the Mayor said he considered it an appointment of both himself and Commissioner Craven, as they both agreed upon the football expert as the man for the place.

The Mayor resented the idea that the appointment was made with any idea of reforming the department, and would not discuss it from the point of view. "I think that is an unfair assumption, and I would not say."

Deputy Commissioner Edwards lives at No. 133 South Oxford street, Brooklyn, but he is not a native New Yorker. The Mayor said he did not know what Mr. Edwards's politics are and does not know how long he has lived in New York.

FRANK ROCKEFELLER SUES.

ST. LOUIS, March 12.—Frank Rockefeller, of Cleveland, a brother of John D. Rockefeller, is here to attend the trial of a suit which he had instituted in the Circuit Court against Henry Goss to recover $25,000. The case was called for trial yesterday.

In his petition Rockefeller sets forth that on Oct. 1, 1890, he entered into a lease with Goss to purchase land, paying $200,000 for the mine and $50,000 for improvements. He charges that the mine did not come up to the representations. In his answer Goss denies that any misrepresentations were made.

Adjustable Bed Couches are advertised extensively by many stores as having been made expressly for their "Special Sale" to sell at $9.75. We are selling, right along, a better Couch for the same money, and which, for one day only, to-morrow, Wednesday, will offer for..... $6.95

This Couch is positively the best that can be purchased anywhere for $9.75, but to show its superiority over the other kind, we cut profit and offer it for the one day at $6.95. We give four excellent reasons why our couch is better, viz.:

The frame is heavier.
The National Steel Wire is the better spring.
The fabric is supported by nearly double the number of steel helicals contained in the "Special."
The mattress and pillow are covered with Art Ticking and are all half filled.
